

About Bruker:

Bruker has been an extremely active member of the scientific community for over 50 years. We have had a strong presence in Canada and Quebec over this period equipping local scientists with innovative instrumentation. Such collaboration pushes boundaries and allows us to work together in advancing a wide range of fields through quality analytical techniques. Our organization spans many analytical techniques including: NMR, MRI, EPR, mass spectrometry, X-Ray diffraction, and more. We strive to manufacture cutting-edge instrumentation that provides scientists the tools they need to continue to keep Canada competitive and innovative.
